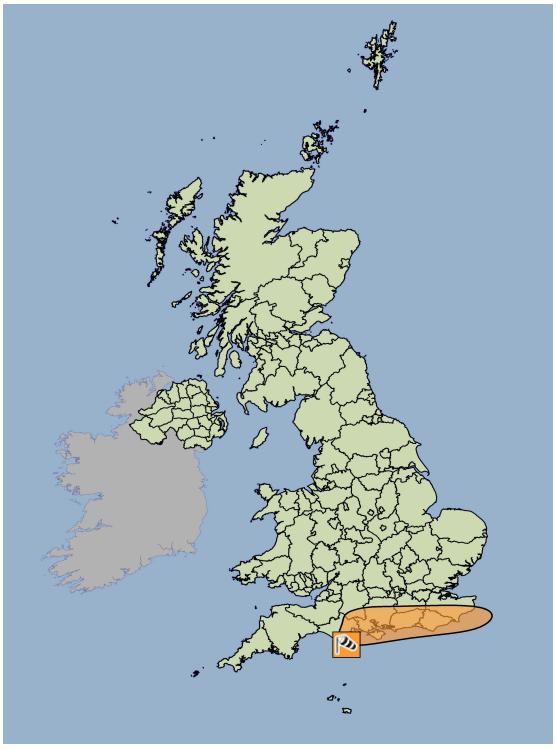
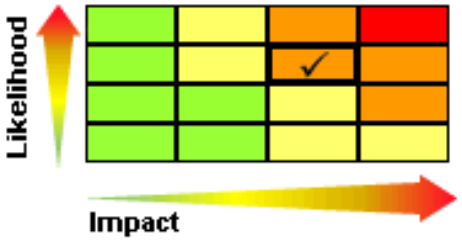
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
The deep area of low pressure will migrate only slowly northwards during Wednesday, swinging bands of rain and strong winds across the entire country. A swathe of strong southwesterly winds will run along southern counties, slowly easing from the west during the afternoon.

The Met Office have issued an Amber Warning of Wind

Valid from 08:00 on Wed, 05th Feb 2014 until 15:00 on Wed, 05th Feb 2014

Winds are expected to gust to around 70 mph over coasts, and 50-60 mph inland, whilst rain will be heavy at times. The public should be prepared for the risk of disruption to transport and power due to fallen trees. Additionally, large waves bring the risk of flooding in some coastal areas.
